Factors Affecting Violence Against Working Woman in the Jordanian society “Applied Study”

Abstract:
This research aimed at studying types of violence toward working Jordanian woman that have been done against them from employers (gender violence) family (family or domestic violence) and society (societal violence). Also, study sexual harassments that woman faces at workplace, Moreover, the Study aimed at studying the consequences of violence against working woman. The study population was women working at governmental, private and individual institutions. The study was conducted on a target sample of 450 women in the three regions of the kingdom (north, middle and south). The results show that woman suffers from all types of Job violence: 46% of the respondents suffer from societal violence; 55.8% gender abuse; and 30.7% suffer from family abuse. The results, also, show that 20.8% of the respondents face sexual harassments.

Keywords: working women, violence , sexual harassments